

ENO Weather Week

The environment is changing a lot, mostly because of us, people. This causes also changing the weather. The environment is already so polluted that we have only had around 10 cm of snow yearly and only for a few days. In the past we used to have snow all winter. Summers are also warmer. That's fine with me, but not with animals. A lot of animals get sick and die because of it. Animals can't adapt to such big climate changes so quickly, neither will we. It seems to me that there is more rain as well. More acid rain. It pollutes rivers, meadows, forests... If we don't stop polluting the Earth immediately, we will destroy our world. However, I think we are already close. Even if we stopped polluting, we would only slightly extend the life of the Earth.
