Environment Online ENO - a global school and community network for sustainable development, invites your school, group or community to participate in international tree planting event! The next tree planting week will take place from 17 May to 23 May 2021 with the theme "Yes, we all need hope!"

Hope to the world by planting trees

Climate change is one of the most urgent and biggest problems. We all have to do our part to reduce the effect of climate change. A good way to tie carbon is to plant trees and forests. We in ENO have planted trees together with schools and communities since 2004. We have two annual days for planting standing together with UN; for International Day for Biological Diversity 22 May and for International Day of Peace 21 September. And of course you can participate and plant trees at any day throughout the year depending on a suitable season for planting in your country.
